STORAGE PLAN APPROVED BY HEALTH CHIEF

Markwith Puts O. K. On Proposed 3-Million Gallon Reservoir

DOES NOT APPLY TO QUALITY OF WATER

Council Also Asks Resurfacing of E. State St. Stretch

The state department of health has given its approval of the city's preliminary plans for the construction of a 3,000,000-gallon water storage tank just south of here, to boost the supply for increased industrial and domestic consumption.

The approval was contained in a letter from R. H. Markwith, state director of health, which was read at the regular meeting of city council Tuesday night.

Also revealed at the council caucus were plans for a combination city and state highway department project for the resurfacing of downtown E. State st., between Ellsworth and Lincoln avenues.

State Health Director Markwith's communication to council explained that his office had approved preliminary plans of the proposed concrete reservoir for a water distributing system as incorporated in City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff's Feb. 3 report, subject to a condition that detailed plans of the proposed improvement shall have received approval of the state department of health before construction of the improvements is undertaken.

No endorsement of quality

He explained that the O. K. or preliminary plans should not be construed as an endorsement of the existing water supply of the city of Salem by the state department of health.

"Approval of the reservoir," Markwith wrote, "is granted because the storage will be an extremely important addition to the waterworks system regardless of the sources from which the supply is obtained."

"At the earliest possible date, city officials should take definite action toward installation of a water supply which will be adequate and safe for the city at all times."

George P. Lozier, president of the Manufacturers' association, which has favored improvement in the supply and attending the meeting were President of Council C. F. Zimmerman, Engineer F. S. Barkhoff and Service Director Frank Wilson.

Vincent said that E. R. McCullough, state highway department divisional engineer, gave them considerable encouragement on the project. The city's share of expense in the estimated $6,000 or $10,000 project would be only $1,000.

Resolution Enacted

In compliance with McCullough's wishes, council last night passed a

600 PERISH IN RAID ON PARIS

RAF Hits Industrial Suburbs, Aiming At Big Renault Plant

(By Associated Press)

P1—600 PERISH VICHY, Unoccupied France, March 4.—The death toll of an RAF raid on industrial suburbs of Paris last night mounted steadily today, as rescue workers dug through the ruins, and shortly after noon was placed semiofficially at 600 with more bodies constantly being recovered.

Earlier, a communique had announced at least 442 persons killed, more than 1,000 injured and between 200 and 250 houses destroyed on the basis of preliminary information from the Nazi-occupied French capital.

Along with the bombs, the RAF dropped leaflets addressed to the Paris population saying they had come to bomb factories manufacturing arms for "our common enemy" and would return now that they knew where to strike.

At least 12 towns in the suburban belt around Paris were blasted during a two-hour attack, the announcement said, although the most concentrated bombing apparently was directed at the factory regions of Boulogne-Sur-Seine and Billancourt.

(Authorized sources in London said the Renault motor plant was the objective. They declared that open warfare had enabled the RAF pilots to spot the target area clearly and that virtually all the bombs had dropped on the factories. Latest information there placed the number of dead at more than 600.

WAR PRODUCTION TO BE DISCUSSED

Production problems in defense industries will be discussed by Herbert Harris of Cleveland at a dinner of Columbiana, chairman of the industrial protection committee of the United Defense council of Northern Columbiana county, for 6:30 p. m. Friday, March 13, in the Memorial building.

Harris, assigned to the Salem meeting by the ordinance department in Cleveland, has been studying production problems throughout the country. His talk here will deal largely with sub-contracts and engineering.

Chairman of all township and municipal industrial protection committees in this part of the county, shop committees and executives of defense plants will attend the dinner meeting.

J. H. Wilson is chairman of Salem's industrial protection committee.

LISBON, March 4.—The county commissioners at the expiration of the janitor contract this week, employed four persons on a monthly basis for the heating, care and cleaning of the court house.

The contract of Robert Lenz, who was awarded the care of the entire building the past year on his bid of $2,880, was not renewed by the commissioners. The new plan of hiring four persons, each for specific duties, includes: Lorea Dixon as engineer and janitor at $100 per month; Robert Lenz, janitor, $80 per month; Clifford Williams, janitor, $60 per month, and Mrs. Maude Burton, janitress, $60 per month.

DRIFTS STILL KEEP STUDENTS AT HOME

Approximately 2,500 Pupils In Rural System Get "Vacation"

Schools in Yellow Creek, Fairfield and Hanover townships and the Beaver Rural district of Columbiana county remained closed today as county and state highway department crews labored to clear the heavy snowfall from all roads.

County School Supt. W. E. Roberts said that 2,500 pupils of the rural schools were absent, but expected to be able to reach all schools tomorrow morning.

The school buses experienced difficulty yesterday after the heavy snowstorm. Some were stalled in drifts. Others were unable to cover their pickup routes.

Traffic was gradually returning to normal in the wake of snowplows which were busy all night long. Drifts were reported numerous on the Lisbon-Columbiana road, the Ellettsburg-Rogers road, Route 15 east of Salem and Route 30 near East Liverpool.

Some rural schools were dismissed early yesterday to permit buses to get pupils home before traffic was halted.

Valves were opened in the lake-Milton reservoir west of Youngstown to lower the water level in anticipation of a flood caused by melting snow.

COSGAREA PERMIT REVOKED BY STATE

The state liquor control board today revoked the night club permit of Mrs. Steve Cosgarea, operator of the Salem tavern (Tourist hotel), at 209 W. State st., on charges of disorderly conduct and sales to intoxicated persons.

The revocation was announced two days after a hearing at the board's Cleveland office.

Police raided the place early in the morning of Feb. 3, arresting three men and three women who had failed to register. Charged with misconduct, the defendants were fined $10 and costs each by Mayor R. B. Johnson.

Police chief Ralph Stoffer, who with Patrolman Clifford Todd testified at the Cleveland hearing Monday, said that the defense introduced a petition signed by a group of Salem residents who vouched for the reputation of the W. State st. inn.

One survivor, Thomas Ryan Moody, 22, of Franklin, Ky., related how he tried to launch a lifeboat but found part of the equipment had been blown away.

More Than 18,000 Tons Of Shipping Destroyed In Surprise Raid

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Over 18,000 tons of enemy ships have been destroyed in a spectacular raid by General Douglas MacArthur's small air force, and a task force of the navy has blasted 16 heavy Japanese bombers out of the sky in a deep penetration of Japanese mandated islands.

The double triumphs, while hardly major in character, served to show again today the amazing resourcefulness of MacArthur's little force in the Philippines, and to point up the navy's ideas for carrying the fight to the enemy.

One 10,600-ton ship, one 8,000-tonner and two motor launches were destroyed in a surprise attack by MacArthur's airmen over Subi bay. In addition large fires were started among enemy stores on docks of Olangapo and Grande Island, followed by explosions. Many small craft useful to the invaders were damaged.

Seamen Take Tragedy Calmly; Don Underwear Before Plunge

Sip Hot Coffee After Torpedoes Hit Destroyer And Then Prepare To Battle Icy Water

(By Associated Press)

CAPE MAY, N. J., March 4.—They were a very ordinary bunch, those sailors on the Jacob Jones.

Their destroyer's bow was demolished by the first torpedo from an Axis submarine; the stern was blown to bits by depth bombs set off by the second; but the men midship prepared for the ordeal of the cold Atlantic by donning three suits of heavy underwear and donning hot coffee from soup ladles before abandoning the United States warship Saturday morning off Cape May.

"We had good sailors on the Jackie," said Joseph Paul Tidwell, 22, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., one of only 11 survivors of the ship which may have had as many as 145 officers and men.

The water was 38 degrees and plenty cold.

One survivor, Thomas Ryan Moody, 22, of Franklin, Ky., related how he tried to launch a lifeboat but found part of the equipment had been blown away.

JAPAN CLAIMS NEW GAINS IN JAVA BATTLE

Same Old Story For Allies —Not Sufficient Men Or Materials

SOERABAJA NAVAL BASE THREATENED

Scorched Earth Policy Carried Out By Retreating Dutch

By ROGER D. GREENE

Associated Press War Editor

Japan's invasion forces scored new gains against outnumbered American, British and Dutch troops in the critical three-day-old battle of Java today, and the danger was now so acute that N. E. I. headquarters announced the major part of a scorched earth defense policy had already been carried out.

A Tokyo radio broadcast said Japanese mechanized units this morning reached a point west of the big Dutch naval base at Soerabaja, in eastern Java, and there clashed with "Allied forces trying desperately to halt the Japanese onslaught."

Strike Toward Batavia

Other enemy columns were striking toward the capital city of Batavia, in western Java, where demolition squads already had begun to blast the picturesque 320-year-old town, and toward the Allied headquarters city of Bandung.

Once again, a tragic story of Allied numerical inferiority—in planes, ships and men—emerged from the struggle for this last United Nations stronghold in the Indies.

Dutch quarters in London said that only about 50,000 Allied troops, among them "a few thousand American and British," were fighting at least 85,000 Japanese and that the United Nations naval force "had suffered a crippling blow" in attempting to halt the Japanese invasion fleet.

Previous reports said the Dutch had an army of 100,000 to 200,000 troops, reinforced by "many thousands."

NELSON SUSPENDS CONTRACT BIDDING

Will Throw More War Work To Small Firms, Speed Up Deliveries

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Production Chief Donald M. Nelson ordered the army and navy today to bring thousands more of the nation's 200,000 factories into war production by suspending competitive bidding on arms contracts.

"Perfectly capable small firms" had been blocked from getting into war production, Nelson explained, because "under competitive bidding large concerns which already hold extensive war contracts are often able to underbid small manufacturers who are not doing any war work at all."

Part for Small Firms

Nelson, in the directive he issued last night, said that henceforth simple, standardized articles must be ordered by the armed services and the maritime commission from smaller concerns, leaving the larger plants free to concentrate on accelerated production.

"Thousands" Reported To Have Reached Northern Ireland Port

(By Associated Press)

With U. S. Troops In Northern Ireland, March 4.—Thousands more cheering, husky United States fighting men have arrived in a northern Ireland port to augment the force that has been in Ulster for more than a month, it was announced today.

Details of the landing of the fleet of transport and supply ships were withheld until the soldiers, their guns and their other fighting equipment had been scattered to the secluded spots throughout the six northern Ireland counties and the ships had left port.

Compared with the ceremonial landing of the first contingent of the AEF to Europe's part of the world war last month, the latest arrival was a routine job carried out with typical army and navy clockwork precision.

Like the first contingent, most of the latest arrivals are midwesterners who had been in training in southern army camps for a year. But there are some representatives of every part of the country.

They came in full field equipment and with their guns ready.

The white-haired troop commander was a colonel from the middle west, a veteran of artillery campaigning in the first World war and five years commander of the same unit, which was with the Rainbow division.

FAMOUS PIANO DUO HERE ON MARCH 20

The same program which they will present at Town Hall in New York City one week after their appearance here will be played by Mario Braggiotti and Jacques Fray for the Northern Columbiana County Concert association program Friday evening, March 20, in Salem High school auditorium.

"From Bach to Gershwin" is the slogan the internationally known pianists use to describe the variety of their programs, which have enabled them to reach a vast music-loving population not interested in strictly classical fare.

Swing music enthusiasts, the two are known for their "swinging" of Schubert's "Serenade" a dozen years ago and for their defense of popularizing the classics on the grounds that the layman who becomes familiar with great music on easy terms, will eventually seek it at its source.

Their programs, since the earliest days of their collection, have featured humorous take-offs, imitations and impressions.

Public interest in the concert by the two artists has led the concert association to make available a number of tickets for this last concert in the 1941-1942 series. Arrangements may be made through Mrs. E. E. Dyball, association secretary.

HEIN TER POORTEN HEADS LAND ARMY

Governor General To Continue In Full Civil Authority

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 4.—Vice-Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich, commander of the United Nations naval forces in the southwest Pacific, has resigned that post and been entrusted with a "special mission," it was announced today.

The statement said that Lieut. Gen. Hein Ter Poorten would command the land forces following the departure of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, former supreme commander of the United Nations southwest Pacific forces.

Governor General A. W. L. Tjarda Van Starkenborgh Stachouwer will continue in full civil authority, the Netherlands government announced.

It declared that all commanders in the East Indies—even those whose forces may become cut off—have been ordered to "fight on to the last."

It was Helfrich who ordered the Dutch Indies fleet to sea a week before the outbreak of war in the Pacific, with the result that within 24 hours of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dutch submarines had sunk several enemy transports in the Gulf of Siam. This war the first of a series of operations for which Helfrich won acclaim as the "ship-a-day" admiral.

Admiral Helfrich took over the Allied command Feb. 11 after the resignation of United States Admiral Thomas G. Hart.

INCOME TAX CASH ROLLS UP IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, March 4.—Ohioans' income tax dollars are rolling into internal revenue collectors' offices up to four times as fast as last year, statewide reports indicated today.

Lines of citizens waiting for professional advice on their returns are longer, too, now that lowered exemptions have made additional thousands of wage earners subject to filing income reports by March 16.

As payments by mail were recommended to ease the crush, Collector Harry F. Bussey's office in Columbus prepared to remain open all night next week.

The Toledo collector has taken in more than $2,000,000, four times more than the corresponding period a year ago. He has received $82,400 returns, an increase of more than 100 per cent.

Cleveland Collector Frank P. Gentsch said every available employee was making out returns for taxpayers but that they couldn't keep up with the rush. "We're taking in tremendous amounts of cash he said.

Although Cleveland returns were 50 per cent less than expectations, receipts through Monday night totaled $21,872,996 against $5,273,130 in the like period a year ago.

Toledo collector Fred A. Adams said the government was prepared to file liens on personal or real property to enforce payment of income taxes.

NO MAGIC IN REORGANIZATIONS

Six months after the end of the war, when the new army reorganization plan to become effective March 9, expires, its faults and advantages will be well known. Until then, when expert opinion presumably will become available to ordinary citizens, they can have no reasoned opinion.

They are glad something new is being tried—glad because the war has seemed to prove that military organizations, with the exception of those belonging to countries planning aggression, become afflicted with dry rot and Colonel Bismarck. In fact, no secret has been made of the fact that in last summer's war games their own armed forces proved to be little more than a match for, say, the British, who have not been the shining examples of success in modern warfare.

It is commonly understood that the officer personnel has been fostered from stem to stern; that some of the red tape has been swept out; that new ideas are not an invitation to court-martial; but after all, the business at Pearl Harbor happened only three months ago, indicating that the fighting forces of the United States still hadn't been tuned to fighting pitch at that time. Conspicuously mentioned in criticism of the forces has been their lack of unified command and inclusive strategy, covering all branches of combat.

This fault is ostensibly overcome by the new reorganization, which puts all ground combat forces under one command, all air forces under another and all supply departments under a third. But there is no magic in reorganizations. The only magic lies in personnel. Americans are confident that as and when the various showdowns fall due, their army will give a good account of itself. With the precedent of Gen. MacArthur and his heroic handful to remember, the army couldn't fail.

EDOUARD DALADIER'S STORY

France, explains its former premier at the strange trial proceedings in Riom to determine the guilt of its war leaders, had a larger armored force in the field than Germany in June, 1940. Yet, France lost. Its tanks and armored cars never had a chance.

"Our leaders did not believe in them," declares Edouard Daladier. As premier, he made a general of Charles de Gaulle, from whom the Germans borrowed many of their ideas about mechanized war. His minister, Pierre Cot, fought for a larger air fleet. Paratrooper troops were tried and abandoned by the general staff.

The men responsible for French security thought these untold ideas were dangerous; they believed in holding fast to that which was good. They were splendidly prepared to beat the ears off the Germans if the Germans repeated the tactics of World War I. But of course the Germans had something new. So did the Japanese when they struck. The careful plans of the opposition to win World War I were no good in World War II.

Edouard Daladier's story is far from surprising. It is the story of the weakness of the nations that invited attack by their failure to keep abreast of the dangers that confronted them.

UNIDENTIFIED PLANES

Further details of the latest airplane scare in California have emphasized urgent need for a more systematic procedure in official reporting. Residents of the region affected are in the absurd position of having to choose between the navy department's official statement and the war department's. One says the scare was a false alarm; the other says it wasn't. Their difference of opinion is highly disconcerting.

This isn't something remotely objective that has happened in California, but a matter close to the morale of every population center in the country. Everything possible is being done to get populations accustomed in advance to the air raid that may happen. The government can make a valuable contribution to civilian defense if it will make certain that unidentified planes, puzzling enough to those who hear them first-hand, aren't allowed to become guessing game material in Washington, too. If the government doesn't know, it shouldn't guess.

tors, nurses and laboratory technicians for war service as well as civilian needs, American hospitals and medical schools are stepping up their pace and also changing it. In my opinion the result may be very salutary for the future of the various allied professions, because to a considerable extent we have succumbed to the doctrine of spending longer and longer periods of time in order to complete the various educational courses.

As far as doctors are concerned, "the medical profession is closer to scraping the bottom of the bucket than any other occupation, trade or profession," according to Dr. Morris Fishbein, of the American Medical Association. There is an expected need as I write for 19,000 more doctors in the various services.

Need of Army Doctors
About 5,000 are graduated per annum. Students in all medical schools were told by Army officials in the early part of 1940 that while most of them were of draft age, they would not be called provided they signed up for the Medical Reserve Corps. They were allowed to finish their medical course, get the degree of M. D., and take a year in a hospital before being inducted into service.

This was a more than fair offer. In my opinion, but many of them failed to take advantage of it; some of them failed to come up to the physical requirements and several hundred are women. The result is that this first class of internes who will be available for medical services in the Army July 1, 1942, number only about 1,500.

Questions and Answers
H. M.:—"I have been on a diet, but lately I have eaten quite a few apples. I was told that apples contained as many calories as a slice of toast. Is this correct?"

Answer: It depends on the size of the apple and the size of the piece of toast and whether there is butter on the toast. The average large raw apple has 100 calories. A slice of toast which weighs one ounce and is unbuttered has 75 calories.

USED TIRE PRICES
Editor, The News:

In these days of rationing and price fixing, I wonder why Mr. Henderson does not have a price on second hand tires. I just heard that instead of one pound of sugar per person, we are going to get one-half pound. This is stretching it down to almost nothing, but yet not as bad as second hand tires.

For example, my son went to one of the second hand dealers in Salem last Friday to try to obtain two tires. This size tires cost about 15 bucks brand new, but this dealer had the nerve to ask him $50 for those two used tires. Now we all know that rubber will stretch, but it seems to me that this is stretching it way out of all proportions. Not only do I think this to be an outrage, but in my own private opinion it seems worse than highway robbery.

It seems the dealers realize people will have to have tires and are willing to be made the sucker out of necessity. For my part I don't think so. Let those dealers stick with their tires and find some way out for your transportation. I do not know whether it will do any good, but with this letter, I am also writing to the office of Mr. Henderson and explaining this situation of which I am talking.

It is time for the general public to realize that some people are taking too much advantage of a bad situation, and it certainly does not look very patriotic to me to say the least. No son did not hand over 50 bucks for two used tires. Maybe some sucker will. I hope not.

I found

better looks!

A truly marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, under-weight, sluggishness, loss of appetite—all by two important steps

Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood. Here's how!

If you are one of those unfortunate who have worked under a strain, failed to stimulate the proper foods, have been vexed by your body's troubles, or have suffered with other illness, yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red blood cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is what should help you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you eat.

To make use of it as Nature intended. This you may get new vitality... become animated... more attractive!

"HUTCH" OF THE R.A.F. by PETER MUIR

SYNOPSIS
David Hutchinson, American aviator with the Royal Air Force, makes a forced landing in a golf course in Kent, England. Here he meets lovely Wendy, who on short leave from the ambulance corps. Her brother, Philip, has just been assigned to David's outfit. After self-introductions, Wendy does not let on that she knows of David through his exploits, realising how reticent most flyers are about publicity.

CHAPTER TWO
Wendy said something banal about being glad to meet him, to the fact that she already knew he was, and followed him to the motor.

"You'll excuse me, won't you?" asked, and continued the work. "I've nearly got it now."

"Of course. But tell me, how did you happen to be one of the first Americans in the R. A. F.?" She did not mean to ask this question. She knew that she did know him by reputation, and she bit her lip, and at herself.

David looked up a moment from his work, then back again. "I was mending a couple of years in France," he said. "There, that's all." He had finished stopping the leak and straightened up. So Wendy, and he noticed that she was nearly as tall as he, and quite under. He was an even six foot, and made a mental calculation that he must be only three inches shorter. He liked tall girls, especially when they had dark chestnut hair down to their shoulders, and a half smiling, half serious eyes.

He flashed through his head that this was the type of a girl he had seen in the papers, a little—just a little—like a little more so. He seemed to expect him to say something else in answer to her question, and stood waiting. "A couple of years in France," he repeated. "Studying, you know. Perusing my French, my skiing and my tennis." He laughed, showing his teeth and small shadows on his cheeks that he would have been very glad to see.

"I'm glad I spent more time on the flying than I did on the tennis. However, I've spoken it as I was a boy, so I'm pretty sure if not grammatical, I'd just then my pilot's license down at the time when the war broke; so the time was fairly easy."

"From very far off came the drone of airplane motors. They stopped in conversation to listen intently. Wendy automatically picked up his hat, but did not do it as they did not motionless, tense. They're coming our way," he said at last. "Fighters. See them?" He pointed to four black specks in the south. One was in front, closely followed by three others. A burst machine gun fire came feebly to ears. "It's one of our fellows trouble." He put on his helmet and started to climb into the cockpit. Wendy, however, as usual, he can hold out until—

The end of the sentence was waved good-bye, turned, and red up the fairway upon which had landed.

The girl watched, her lips slightly parted in wonder, as the tiny ship skimmed off the ground, gained altitude, banked sharply and headed in the direction of the four planes now circling madly for position not half a mile away.

Wendy stood motionless, gripping her golf club so tightly that her knuckles showed white, fascinated as a bird charmed by a snake. For the life of her she could not have taken her eyes from the tiny specks in the sky, their motors whining and machine-guns barking as they endeavored with all their skill and daring to destroy one another. The three Messerschmitts would almost certainly bring down the lone English fighter if David did not arrive in time. He was climbing hard, but the four planes were now moving off in the other direction.

She could see the tracer bullets from the Germans passing dangerously near the lone R. A. F. man, and prayed silently in intently for David to hurry and join in the fight. He had gained sufficient altitude and was leveling off motor wide open. He would be within range in a moment now. "Go on, go on, for God's sake!" she urged. "Hurry! Hurry!" David was pressing hard on the tail of the last Messerschmitt, and she saw tracers as he opened up with his eight machine-guns. Then the planes were swallowed by a bank of fluffy white autumn clouds, and she could no longer see nor hear them.

Just how long she waited, standing there on the links gripping her club with both hands, hardly breathing, listening, Wendy could not say. Perhaps it was ten minutes, perhaps an hour. Time meant nothing to her. Only those little specks that had disappeared into the clouds, whirling and diving messages of death, had a meaning. The rest seemed unreal. Or was it the planes and their pilots that were unreal? She could not decide.

Had there actually been a handsome boy, covered with oil, standing there, smiling and chatting, a few moments ago, or had he been a phantom? Instinctively she looked to the ground where the plane had been and saw its tracks on the fairway. To have been real all right, very real. And now he was off fighting in the clouds, fighting for his life.

The thought came to her that he might even be lying on the ground somewhere, mangled and burned beyond recognition, and the tears welled up, blinding her. Why, she asked herself a hundred times as she stood there motionless except for her hair which the light breeze played through—why, oh why must the flower of youth be destroyed, burned, mangled? They were so brave, so utterly without fear, so selfless. There was great beauty in their unaffected courage, but all this did not answer her soul searching question.

Wendy remained rooted to the spot by the expectation that the planes might return, and that she could count them, see their markings, and know if anything had happened. She fully realized that the chances of such a return were very small indeed with the speed of the modern fighter planes.

Finally she renounced this faint hope, picked up her golf ball, and started walking slowly in the direction of "The Downs," her home situated on a slight rise to the west of, and overlooking, the links.

As she walked along, following the direction by instinct, for she saw nothing about her, the smiling presence of David Hutchinson seemed to accompany her. Her desire during these terrible times was to be strong, to keep both feet on the ground and, above all, to have a high morale. But the imaginary presence of the young American aviator was so strong as she walked along that finally she gave up trying to rid herself of it. Inwardly she admitted that David had made an impression that might be lasting. But would he last in this maelstrom where life meant nothing? A low groan escaped her, and after that she walked more briskly.

From quite a distance Wendy could see a figure standing on the broad steps of the fine old Georgian house, "The Downs," where her mother and father, Lord and Lady Harrowsdale, spent most of their time. Each one preferred "The Downs" to the London house in Eaton Square, for their own particular reason, although most of their pleasures and pastimes were identical.

Wendy, in her lighter moments, referred to her parents as members of the "huntin', fishin', an' ridin'" set, so typical of England. But there were other reasons why the couple chose to live in Kent. Lady Harrowsdale loved flowers, had a show garden, and was president of the local Horticultural Club, at which she exhibited roses and dahlias every year. Lord Harrowsdale was tremendously fond of the old house where his forefathers had lived and loved and died for eleven generations. He lived the life of a prosperous country squire, attended church and civic meetings regularly, revered the broad acres of rich land that had come to him down the years, saw that the land was well developed, hunted, rode to hounds, and fished in season.

Once a year he and his wife journeyed to London for a month, to see the shows, renew their wardrobe, and attend to any business with the family solicitors that was pressing. Then there was the annual trip to Scotland in the autumn to visit Lady Harrowsdale's family and shoot grouse. But both of them always returned to "The Downs" with a sigh of relief and contentment.

Lord Harrowsdale had been severely wounded at Mont Kemmel in 1917, and had had a long convalescence after being at death's door; but all in all, life had been good to them so far, and they were happy. The war had naturally made certain changes in their mode of life. His Lordship was head of the air raid wardens for that part of the country and, while German planes had not been active there to date, he had organized well for the day, or night, when they would come. Her Ladyship directed the local hospital for sick and wounded officers and, as this was now continually full, her duties took a great part of her time.

Skies in the background illuminated by fires from petroleum fields prove that the British and Dutch are carrying out their scorched earth policy in the East Indies. Japanese troops are preparing to go over the top after their landing at Miri, Sarawak. The firing of the oil fields consumed supplies that would ordinarily have gone to the Japs, and held up the Nipponese action as well.

Fire Control Duty Begins At Home, Chief Points Out

Protecting your home from the ravages of fire is just good common sense at any time. After all, it is YOUR home and YOUR property.

But when the United States is at war, when there is a shortage of materials and housing and there is enough danger without any accidents, and when the fire department is charged with the duty of protecting vital defense industry above all, then home fire protection becomes a patriotic duty it was stressed today by Fire Chief Vincent L. Malloy of Salem, vice chairman of the committee of public protection of the United Defense Council of Northern Columbiana county.

At least 90 percent of all the fires which occur in Salem are preventable. Theoretically, almost any fire in property or residences is preventable by the exercise of ordinary precautions and through the advances of modern science.

Safeguards Open To All
All the mechanical aids to fire protection and prevention are readily available to almost anyone—such as fire extinguishers, safe wiring and even, lightning rods, and nearly any building can be made almost fireproof.

Fires are another example of the theory that man has worked out scientific equipment and facilities more efficient than himself. The large majority of fires are due to "human failure" or, in other words, just plain carelessness.

Any fire can be troublesome to you and may even be disastrous to you and your family, as Chief Malloy of the Salem department points out, but it also can be disastrous to your community.

The Salem fire department is for the protection of you, your home and your property and if a fire breaks out it should be called at once to prevent the possible spread of flames.

What may start as a minor blaze in an unimportant building may spread very rapidly into a major conflagration, destroying hundreds and thousands of dollars worth of property. It has happened before and can again. The classic example is Mrs. O'Leary's cow, generally blamed for kicking over a lamp, starting a fire which destroyed the biggest part of Chicago.

SPRING FORMAL FROCKS FLATTER FEMININITY

For the evenings when you can relax and enjoy some gaiety, designers have provided an array of evening gowns that set out to flatter femininity. For dining in a restaurant you could wear the red and blue tiny checked taffeta, shown at left above, with a beautifully fitted, yoked midriff, a swishing skirt and long-sleeved bolero. The blouse is made of sheer embroidered fabric, with softly ruffled neckline. The more formal gown, center, has multitudes of soft folds in the skirt and a convertible collar that may be worn as a head covering or allowed to float down the back in soft drapery. It is in chartreuse green chiffon with printed flowers applied to the midriff. For the little dinner at home wear a dress like the model shown right, which has a long-sleeved shirtwaist top of white embroidered marquisette and full skirt of the same material in black and white over a rustling taffeta under dress. Tiny self-covered buttons march down the front of the long bodice.

Parking More Than 24 Hours Is Banned

COLUMBIANA, March 4.—City council, meeting at city hall last night, granted permission to Carl Stacey to move the garage from the property on N. Main st., formerly known as the Trel property which was sold recently to the Standard Oil company.

Council granted Stacey permission to move the building to his property on S. Main st. Council instructed City Solicitor W. O. Wallace to draw up an ordinance to prohibit parking on the streets for more than 24 hours. Trucks and cars being parked for several days on the city streets have become a nuisance, the council said.

The clerk was instructed to write to the school board to ask that the school appoint boys as traffic patrolmen to be stationed at the corners of East Park and Elm st. and S. Main and Pittsburgh streets during the noon hour and at the closing hour of school in the afternoon. This measure was taken because of the two dangerous crossings for the younger school children.

Columbiana experienced the heaviest snowfall during the year Monday night and Tuesday. Some streets and alleys were impassable. The snow drifted and piled up as high as four and five feet in different parts of town. Many business men who drove to work in the morning had to shovel their cars out of drifts to drive home at noon.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss June Bennett on Woodland ave.

Gloomy February's Weather Under Par

The month of February was marked by below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation, District Weather Observer L. H. Copeland of Millport, pointed out today.

The maximum reading in February was 47 degrees, with a seven below zero reading recorded on the 23rd. The mean reading was 24.2 degrees. Precipitation was 2.69 inches, compared with 69 inches in February a year ago, the driest February on record.

Last month was considered a gloomy one by the observer, only four clear days being checked. Sunshine measured only 35 percent.

February temperatures last year varied only a fraction of a degree from current readings, the mean reading being 24.5. A low of 16 below zero was recorded, however, and six inches of snow covered the ground most of the month.

The year to date is short 1.65 degrees in temperature and 98 inches short in precipitation, Copeland said. Wheat fields show the effect of the extreme cold spell of the past month, he added. Farmers have drawn heavy on feed supply for stock.

Normal temperature for the past 49 years is 26.7; precipitation 2.25 inches, the observer remarked.

February, 1934, was the coldest February on record, having a mean temperature of 16.2 degrees. The warmest, in 1938, had a 35.7 degree average. The wettest, in 1909, had precipitation measuring 4.78 inches.

NEWEST PLANE ACE BAGS 6 IN ONE DAY

Lieut. Eddie O'Hare Of St. Louis Sets High Score Record

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 4.—Lieut. J. G. Edward H. O'Hare, U. S. navy, fighter pilot, personally accounted for six bombers of the enemy.

In that terse sentence of an official communique, the navy last night gave credit to its newest ace for a recent busy afternoon west of the Gilbert islands in the equatorial Pacific.

Fifteen Japanese heavy bombers roared over in two waves to attack a task force of the U. S. fleet. The 27-year-old St. Louisan, with the Irish name knocked down half a dozen personally; ten more were blasted by other American fighters and by anti-aircraft fire, and none of the surface craft in the U. S. task force was damaged.

"So far as we know," a navy official said, "Lieut. O'Hare's feat was the highest single bag and a record for the war."

ST. LOUIS, March 4.—Edward H. O'Hare had a new nickname to add to his collection today. Just call him Ace.

The young navy lieutenant—he'll be 28 Friday, March 13—gained his distinctive new title yesterday through a navy communique announcing he shot down six Japanese planes during a busy afternoon in the western Pacific.

In the war of 1917-18, a pilot was unofficially ranked as an ace after bagging his fifth enemy plane.

Bashful Eddie O'Hare was just plain Nero to his schoolmates at Western Military academy in Alton, Ill. It was Butch O'Hare at the Pensacola naval station where he went for air training after his graduation from Annapolis.

"He always was crazy about airplanes," proud Mrs. Selma A. O'Hare beamed on hearing news of her son's feat. "I'm the proudest mother in the land!"

Forces landed farther east, drove inland and took Subang (2). Another detachment, landed near Rembang, and led by cyclists, drove on to Biora (3). Embattled Javanese, carrying out scorched earth policy, smashed oil plants in path of advancing invaders. There is fierce resistance by defending forces (4). Sea battle north of Java (5) that started when Japs launched invasion, cost Japs nine warships sunk or damaged and between 32 and 37 of their transports and supply ships.

BROOKLYN PICKED TO CAPTURE N. L. FLAG BY DUROCHER

"Reds, Cards Are Weaker," Says Lippy Leo Of Flatbush Fame

By GAYLE TALBOT
HAVANA — Both the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds will be somewhat weaker this coming season than they were last, while the Brooklyn Dodgers will be considerably stronger, in the strictly unbiased opinion of Leo Durocher, who manages the Dodgers.

Therefore, says Leo, his club should win its second straight National league flag without a great deal of difficulty, providing only that the draft or injuries do not take the team completely apart. Leo is so dead sure of it that in discussing Pitcher Whit Wyatt's salary holdout, he says matter-of-factly that Wyatt should take into consideration the big bonus he will receive in the form of a world series cut.

Scuffs At Cards
"There's a lot of talk about the Cardinals beating us," scoffed Durocher.

What are they going to do it with? We outscored those guys over a hundred runs last year. What's going to keep us from doing it again?

"I'll answer that one, myself—nothing. They've lost strength and we've gained it. Do you think Johnny Hopp or whoever takes Johnny Mize's place on first base for the Cards is going to knock in over 100 runs, like Mize always did? I'll make a bet he doesn't. Another thing, the Cards have lost Don Padgett, who can bust that ball, and we have him now.

"Sure, they've got good pitching, but you can't win a pennant with nothing but pitching. We've got hitting to go with ours."

That appeared to dispose of the Cardinals. Tough luck, boys, but there'll always be another year. What, then, about Cincinnati? They were coming fast toward the close of last season.

"They Can't Hit!"

"Same thing," said Leo. "Bill McKee's got a great pitching staff, even if Paul Derringer is due to start slipping one of these years. But they can't hit."

Having been held off this long, Leo was asked if he would like to particularize on the excellent qualities of his own outfit. Would he?

"All I have," he said spaciouly, "are these: I have the league's best first-baseman in Dolf Camilli, its best second-baseman in Bill Huggins, its best shortstop in Pete Weir, its best center-fielder in Pete Reiser, two of its best pitchers in Whit Wyatt and Kirby Higbe. Furthermore, I've got . . ."

But why go on. You see what Leo has in mind.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The promoting fraternity must take back seats for a few moments while the American Bowling Congress is in action.

No other event can produce such astronomical figures. Nearly $175,000 was laid on the line to get ready for the 72 day-and-night affair and the pins alone cost $98,000.

Van Meter (La.) high school (Bob Feller's alma mammy) with an enrollment of 96, has produced a girls' basketball team that has won 19 straight games.

The Giants really are giants this spring. Eleven men in the Miami camp weigh more than 190, and they go up as far as Johnny Mize's 230.

Stanley (Coach) Woodward of the N. Y. Herald Tribune comes up with the idea that N. Y. U. should adopt the football Giants as their team and go back to the good old days when the Violets were represented by professionals.

Today's Guest Star

Dennis Brown, Mount Clemens (Mich.) Daily Monitor: "Bargain counter: Al Sabath's $700 wonder horse, Alsab, is showing his 5-and-10 price . . . It'll probably be a month of Sabbaths before he wins another race."

Records Wrecked

Baseballers kept setting new scoring records week after week in the Kent County (Canada) league at Blenheim, Ont. Morrison rang up 102 points in a game his team won 131 to 51.

Someone finally thought of measuring the baskets and discovered that the hoops were 2 1/2 inches wider than the regulation diameter.

Akron Fighter Cops

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 4.—George Kochan, 159 1/2, Coast Guard middleweight from Akron, O., last night knocked out Augie Anderson, 181, of Harrisburg, N. Y., in 43 seconds of the first round.

Kochan floored his opponent with a left to the jaw for a count of nine and then finished him off with a right to the same spot.

College Drops Football

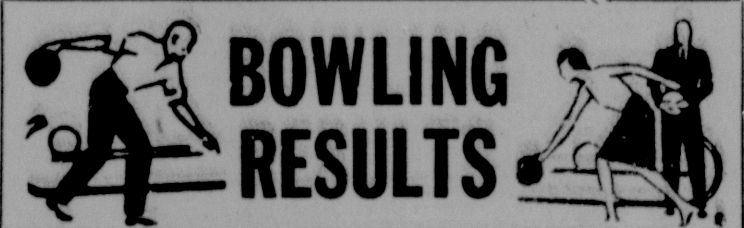

GEORGETOWN, Ky., March 4.—Georgetown college, which has played intercollegiate football since 1893, is giving up the sport for the duration of the war.

Two other Kentucky colleges—Unk and Transylvania—also have dropped football from their athletic programs.

BOWLING RESULTS

National league keglers reached a season's high last night at the temple alleys as they blasted the pins for four "600" series, 28 games over 200, and team scores of 2883 and 2829.

The second place City Loans and the Salem Chinas clashed in a battle which will long be remembered by followers of the strikes and spares. Bill Hull uncorked games of 259, 210 and 205 to amass a 673 series while his teammates, Gene Fugh, blasted the pins for 234, 226 and 184 for a 644 total. The Chinas had a 1007 total the first game despite the fact that Art Shinn fell below his average. Their 943 in the second game wasn't enough as the Loans clipped off a 997. Bill Finley led the assault with a 225 while Bill Pauline had a 215 and a 211.

The pace setting Eagles stuck to their guns and took three from the National Sanitary to increase their lead over the City Loans to nine games. Blair Curry opened his series for the losers with a 240 while Louis DeCrow had games of 203 and 209 for the Eagles.

With Jim Prim leading the way with a 223 the fourth place Salem News five took two from Grates. Andy Dixon rolled a 226 for the losers in the last game. In the other match, the Masons took two from the third place Electric Furnace outfit with the aid of a 621 series by Earl Richardson and a 605 by Bob Wright. Richardson fired games of 226, 174, and 221, to compile his total while Wright had scores of 227, 186, and 192 in his series. Al Wright's 221 paced the Furnace keglers.

Only a few matches were bowled in the Mullins league last night, and the rest will be run off some time in the near future.

MODIFICATION OF FRESHMAN BAN IN CONFERENCE SEEN

Committee To Meet This Week; Ban Approved By Loop Members

CHICAGO—The Western conference, which in 1906 pioneered in barring freshmen from intercollegiate competition may take steps this week toward wartime modification of the ban.

No one expects the faculty committee, the Big Ten's governing body, to drop all the bans on first year participation, but these compromises have been suggested:

1. Relaxation of all the bars on intercollegiate contests between freshman teams. This proposal has the approval of K. L. "Pat" Wilson and H. O. "Fritz" Crider, and L. W. St. John, athletic directors at Northwestern, Michigan and Ohio State.

2. Modification in the rule requiring successful completion of one academic year before an athlete is eligible for intercollegiate competition.

Approves Outside Games
"Personally, I don't think we should allow freshmen to compete in intercollegiate athletics with the varsity," said Wilson, who is also chairman of the conference athletic directors. "But I do think the conference ought to permit freshman teams to schedule one or two outside games in each sport. We're the only league I know of that doesn't do that now."

Except in 1918, when the army took over Big Ten schools in the students army training corps program, the freshman rule never has been relaxed by Big Ten schools.

To meet the current was emergency, the Missouri valley conference and the Eastern "Big Three"—Harvard, Yale and Princeton—already have voted to permit freshmen to participate in varsity contests. The Big Six has deferred action on similar proposals.

Preaders Competition
Any action taken, Big Ten officials say, will be aimed at broadening the competitive base, rather than to alleviate any possible shortage of athletic manpower because of decreased enrollments.

In a memorandum mailed to other athletic directors, Crider said abandonment of the freshman rule "would certainly be invitation for intensive effort in recruiting and proselytizing and undoubtedly there would be a reappearance of the tramp athlete, now quite obsolete."

The athletic directors will meet Thursday night and are expected to draw a set of recommendations for the faculty committee meeting Friday.

SCOTS PIN 50-46 LOSS ON MUSKIES

Youngstown 52, St. Joseph's 51. Wooster 50, Muskingum 49.

The Wooster Scots, ending their basketball season, last night trimmed Muskingum 50 to 46 and ran to 47 their string of consecutive Ohio conference victories on their home floor.

The home fans have not seen Wooster defeated in a league tie in six years. The Scots won 11 of 12 conference games and 19 of 21 contests on their full schedule during the season.

Wooster led at the half 34-26. Scot Forward Dale Hudson paced the scoring with 17 points.

Youngstown, playing at home, edged St. Joseph's of Indiana, 52-51, ratcheting the game in the final two minutes after the score was tied 48 all. Forward Frank Richetto provided the winning margin with a field goal. St. Joseph held a 26-23 halftime lead.

New synthetic rubber washers for faucets are said to last four times as long as those of natural rubber.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4.—The lustre of $5,000 prize money and the necessity of grooming their game for even glossier future fare brought practically the nation's entire cast of "name" golf pros into action today in the annual St. Petersburg Open at the Lakewood Country club.

At least four well-known players who have not made the winter circuit—national open champion Craig Wood, Squire Gene Sarazen, Billy Burke and Ben Love—were in the field of approximately 100 golfers that feed off this morning.

Several other stars like Ben Hogan, the current big money winner, gave up their plans for a rest and came here at almost the last moment.

Hogan had been ill since the close of the New Orleans Open ten days ago and had decided to stay out of this tough 72-hole test which Sam Snead has won twice in the last three years. But yesterday he made his appearance and shot a one-under par practice round that was duplicated under adverse conditions only by Snead, Sarazen and Henry Picard.

Aside from the purse, the St. Petersburg open drew its fullsome array of stars because it is a natural warmup for next week's invitational four-ball tournament at Miami and for the Augusta masters championship, the most highly regarded prizes of the spring.

Reds' Infield Weak

TAMPA, Fla. — Outfielder Mike McCormick, leading Cincinnati hitting last season, will be used as a second string infielder, probably at third base, during the training season games. The Reds have nine outfielders in camp but only seven infielders.

ABC TOURNEY HITS SECOND DAY AFTER NEAR STRIKE DELAY

Elyria Five Rolls 2752, Taking Opening Night Advantage

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, March 4.—The American Bowling Congress tournament moved smoothly into its second day today after a threatened strike of pinboys and scorekeepers delayed the start.

Gov. John W. Bricker, who threw the first ball, and ABC officials in an opening ceremony were held up for 18 minutes last night by the alley employees' negotiations.

When bowling finally began on the 36 alleys in the state fairgrounds coliseum, the pinboys and scorekeepers had won a pay increase from seven cents a game to nine. This rate, an official said, would allow them to average $8 a day.

The governor's first ball knocked down nine pins. The management earlier abandoned plans for wiring together every pin on the alleys, which would have enabled the governor to score 36 strikes with one shot.

The I. T. S. left and right rubber heels five-man team of Elyria, O., won top honors for the first day with 2752, which also netted a $100 prize. Louis Bierman of Mt. Prospect, Ill., rolled seven consecutive strikes and then had a miss to get 255, the 'night's top singles score.

Leonard Goldrick of Alliance, O., rolled three games over 200 and finished with 635.

The standings:

I. T. S. Elyria, O. 2752.

Da-Lite Bleach, Mt. Prospect, Ill., 2744.

Lakewood Lanes, Dallas, Tex., 2744.

Paramount Super Service, Cincinnati, 2739.

Schwartz Men's Wear, Cleveland, 2706.

Miller Brothers, Hamilton, O., 2697.

Mil-Kay, Lima, 2692.

Kotz After Young's Record Set In 1938

CHICAGO, March 5.—Although Johnny Kotz of Wisconsin has made a runaway of the Big Ten's individual basketball scoring race, he will need at least 15 points in his final game Saturday against Iowa to equal the season's average Jewell Young of Purdue established in his record performance of 1938.

The Big Ten played only 12 conference games that year and Young bagged 184 points or a fraction over a 15-point-a-game average. Competing in a 15-game schedule, Kotz has tallied 211 points in 14 games for an almost even 15-point average.

Second to Kotz in the 1942 scoring race is Otto Graham of Northwestern, who has 180 points.

JAPANESE CLAIM NEW GAINS IN JAVA

Same Old Tale For Allies—Not Sufficient Men Or Materials

ands" of American, British and Australian soldiers, to combat the enemy's sea-borne attack. A bulletin from N. E. I. headquarters conceded that the invaders "succeeded in making some headway at some points" as a result of numerical superiority "especially in the air."

The extent of the Japanese gains was not specified.

Signs Are Ominous

While there still appeared to be no radical change in the situation, the signs were ominous. "The principal scorched earth" destruction in Java has now been carried out, the Dutch command said.

These sources declared Japanese submarine victories had reduced Dutch naval strength to such an extent that the Allies no longer were able to undertake a counter-offensive in the far Pacific battle theater.

Dutch headquarters gave this terse summary of the land fighting: "It can only be reported today that our troops fight with stubborn resistance and in offensive spirit."

"In all places where the enemy attempts to advance he is strongly engaged by our troops, who try to prevent his advance."

By contrast, British dispatches late yesterday said Allied troops had launched a counter-offensive and the Japanese were reported thrown back seven miles in one sector.

Against the sombre background of the Java conflict, reports from the Burma front declared that sharp allied aerial attacks had slowed the Japanese drive toward Rangoon and that the enemy was being held virtually at a standstill.

and other industrial installations in the suburbs of Paris may mean the end of allied attempts to coax the Vichy government away from collaboration with Nazi Germany, informed British sources declared today.

An official spokesman asserted the bombings represented no change in RAF policy, but merely in the weather, which other sources earlier had said was particularly clear and thus aided the raiders in finding their targets.

However, it was notable that this was the first time the British had risked the anger of the French by a heavy attack on any objective near the German-occupied French capital.

Legitimate, Says Welles
WASHINGTON, March 4.—The British bombing of factories in the suburbs of Paris was a legitimate measure of war, Acting Secretary of State Welles told a press conference today.

Welles was asked for comment on a London report that the bombing might mean the end of Allied attempts to coax the Vichy government away from collaboration with Nazi Germany.

He replied that it was entirely clear that the bombings of factories in occupied France making war materials for Germany was a legitimate measure of war.

resolution petitioning the state department of highways to pave the main thoroughfare, the city agreeing to contribute $1,000 toward the job.

Council also passed an ordinance transferring $500 from the waterworks fund to cover engineering expenses relative to the water improvement.

Councilman-at-Large Charles Rheutan reported that the safety committee had not reached a decision on Mayor R. R. Johnson's request for the creation of a captaincy in the police department.

Councilman Vincent also announced that the finance committee is working on the nine-month appropriation measure which is due April 1, as well as a new wage schedule for city employees. A temporary three-month appropriation was passed at the first of the year.

The regular appropriation is expected to be ready in time for the next meeting, he said.

Fred A. Shaffer, ordinance committee chairman, said that his group expected to have a measure drafted soon which would prohibit the sale of baby chicks or ducklings at Easter time as pets. The ordinance was requested by the Columbiana County Humane society.

A petition was received from 10 S. Lincoln ave. residents requesting the paving of an alley between E. State and E. Pershing streets, at the rear of the Baptist church.

U. S. FLEET SHOOTS DOWN 16 BOMBERS

Blasts Big Craft Out Of Skies In Running Fight; Only Two Escape

It was apparent, however, that the task force had come within striking distance of a Japanese base, for the heavy bombers that attacked were land-based aircraft that can not operate from carriers.

The navy was silent on the subject, but the task force evidently was carrying out a reconnaissance in some force with orders to inflict the maximum punishment on any enemy forces encountered.

The matter-of-fact language of the navy's communique gave a stirring picture of the pulse-quickening drama and danger that goes with this initial strategy.

Attacked in Waves

"In the course of recent naval operations west of the Gilbert Islands," said the report, "a task force of the Pacific fleet consisting of an aircraft carrier, cruisers and destroyers, was attacked by 18 heavy bombers of the enemy operating in two groups of nine each."

"These attacks occurred in the late afternoon and were timed one-half hour apart."

"The Japanese formations were closely and vigorously engaged by our carrier fighter planes and by anti-aircraft fire from the ships of our task force."

"Only three enemy planes of the first formation reached their bomb release point over the aircraft carrier which avoided all bomb hits by split-second maneuvering."

"The leading bomber of this group attempted a crash landing on the carrier and was shot down by heavy close-range anti-aircraft fire when barely 100 yards from its objective."

"In the second attack only five bombers of the enemy formation reached the release point. In this instance the salvo of enemy bombs was closer to the carrier than on the first attack but again no hits were obtained."

O'Hare Gets Six

"Sixteen of the 18 attacking enemy bombers were shot down in this action. There was no damage to our surface forces. Lieutenant (J. G.) Edward H. O'Hare, U. S. navy fighter pilot, personally accounted for six bombers of the enemy."

"In the two attacks only two of our fighter planes were lost. The pilot of one was recovered."

Besides the harassment and damage such blows cause to the enemy, they represent a constant threat that pins down sizeable Japanese protective forces—land, sea and air—in the mandate island area covering thousands of miles of ocean.

After the successful U. S. raid on bases in the Gilbert and Marshall Islands, Tokyo sarcastically invited the U. S. fleet to return to the "hornet's nest" in the mandates.

Whether it was the same task force that paid the return call was not specified in last night's communique, although the squadron was similar in composition.

The mandate islands may well figure importantly in American strategy when a Pacific offensive is launched. Their capture one by one would give the United Nations the stepping-stone string of bases which reaches almost to the Philippines. A successful campaign of this character would deprive Nippon of most Pacific outposts, and put the Allies in a position to menace not only Japanese lines of communication but Japan itself.

Sub-Committee Okays Military Pay Boosts

WASHINGTON, March 4.—A senate military sub-committee approved legislation today which would double the initial pay of enlisted men and give pay raises to non-commissioned officers and the lowest rank of commissioned officer in the armed forces, the coast guard, coast and geodetic survey and public health service.

Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), chairman of the sub-committee and author of the legislation, said the measure would cost $255,000,000 a year, based on the size of the armed forces last Jan. 1.

At the present time members of the Army and Navy receive $21 a month for their first four months of service and then $30 a month until they are promoted to higher grades. Under the proposed legislation they would start at $42.

NELSON SUSPENDS CONTRACT BIDDING

Will Throw More Way Work To Small Firms, Speed Up Deliveries

erated production of such items tanks planes and big guns. Under the original army-navy policy of dealing with larger firms efforts to bring new plants into the picture had concentrated on encouraging contractors for the completed weapons to subcontract "and pieces" to smaller plants and factories.

The Nelson decree, instead, let smaller plants contract for weapons themselves, specifically the more easily handled items.

Sees Quicker Deliveries

This would undoubtedly cost more, Nelson said. "More favorable prices are often obtained at a sacrifice of speed; by shifting the emphasis, quicker deliveries can be had at comparatively minor increase in cost."

The new order, "directive No. 2," makes negotiated contracts mandatory unless the war production board gives specific permission for inviting bids.

It was understood the treasury procurement division immediately would get such permission, and perhaps some other agencies. Primarily, it was said, the order was aimed at the purchasing policies of the army, navy and military commission.
